Sewage Financing Methods Discussed By City Officials

Salem City officials spent two and one-half hours last night discussing the financing of the proposed $750,000 improvements to the city sewage system with representatives of Cleveland legal and bonding firms, but no definite action was taken.

Attending the meeting were Mayor Dean Cramer, Council Presi-

Sen. McCarthy, Symington Trade Verbal Blasts

Duel Follows Alleged Smear Against Staff Of Subcommittee

WASHINGTON (AP)—The sizzling feud between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) threatened to erupt again today to delay the McCarthy-Army hearings' progress toward a final wind-up.

Francis P. Carr was recalled to the stand in the 34th day of televised hearings before the Senate Investigations subcommittee, with McCarthy and Symington making belligerent noises at each other. They have tangled repeatedly during the last few weeks.

Carr is chief of staff of the subcommittee, which McCarthy normally heads. The Wisconsin senator has stepped off the group while it investigates his dispute with high Army officials.

Calls It "Misunderstanding"

Acting Chairman Mundt (R-SD), seeking to conciliate the McCarthy-Symington row, said in an interview Symington had asked a "hypothetical question" about possible subversives on the subcommittee's staff at yesterday's session and that it was a "misunderstanding" when McCarthy lit into the Missouriian.

But McCarthy told newsmen it is up to Symington to "put up or shut up." He accused Symington and Army Special Counsel Joseph N. Welch, with whom he had clashed before, of joining in an attempt to fasten "guilt by implication" on McCarthy staff members.

Dumfounded By Outburst

Symington said he was "dumfounded" by McCarthy's outburst at the close of yesterday's session, but he stuck to his contention that the subcommittee's files had been "dangerously handled" under McCarthy's regime and were potentially open to looting.

Symington said in a statement the point he was making was that all staff members had access to the files and some of them had not

$90,000 Suit Filed For Blast Injuries

LISBON — Harry B. Arkwright of Columbiana RD 1, whose 19-year-old daughter, Doris, is alleged to have lost her memory and had her voice changed as a result of an explosion, filed a $90,000 damage suit in Common Pleas Court Monday.

Miss Arkwright was working at the Northeast Ohio Poultry Association July 1, 1952 when a boiler exploded seriously injuring her.

Arkwright's petition states the defendant, the American Radiator and Standard Sanitary Corp. of Cleveland was at fault for selling the poultry plant a defective boiler. The boiler had a defective automatic gas control valve, he claims.

Doris, who worked for $35 a week at the plant, suffered severe burns of the face, eyes and extremities. Her father said she developed bronchitis and laryngitis, resulting in voice alterations, and her memory lapsed from effects of the explosion.

Two persons were killed in the blast.

TRYING — Radical Socialist leader Pierre Mendes-France accepted President Rene Coty's bid to form France's 20th post-war cabinet. He immediately began the search for the 314 assembly votes necessary to make him premier.

French Crisis Threatens EDC

Chamber Is Split On Debate Of Pact

PARIS (AP)—France's current political crisis spelled new trouble today for the long delayed European army treaty. The controversial pact in turn posed a major problem for Premier-Designate Pierre Mendes-France or anyone else trying to succeed ousted Premier Joseph Laniel.

Laniel and his Cabinet resigned after losing a National Assembly vote of confidence on Indochina Saturday. Mendes-France, whose criticism of government policy in Indochina was a major factor in Laniel's fall, accepted the mandate to form a cabinet yesterday. He is slated to seek confirmation before the Assembly tomorrow or Thursday.

His chances were considered slight. A big factor is the bad split in the Chamber over the scheduling of debate on ratification of the European Defense Community (EDC) pact, which has been languishing in committee for more than two years.

Any successor to Laniel needs the support of both the Catholic Popular Republican Movement (MRP) and the Union for Republican and Social Action (URAS), the latter made up of followers of Gen. De Gaulle. The MRP wants the army treaty debated as quickly as possible; the Gaullists bitterly opposed to the EDC plan, will fight any attempt to force debate.

The new Premier will have to conjure up some formula to reconcile these views. Mendes-France's public statements have been more against than for the European army, a position which will probably cost him support among the MRP bloc.

Observers still can only speculate whether the Assembly, if it came to a vote on EDC, would approve the plan to rearm West Germany as part of a six-nation force. All sources agree the outcome would be close.

Nursing Directorship Split At City Hospital

The creation of two new positions in nurses training at Salem City Hospital was announced today by Hospital Administrator C. J. Mosher, Jr.

Mrs. Harriet Stahl of Columbiana was named as director of nursing service and Miss Gladys DeCapita of Youngstown was named director of nursing education.

The two jobs were created and approved by the hospital board of trustees Monday night, resulting from the resignation Feb. 1 of Mrs. Ruth Audrey, director of nurses. That office has been broken down into the two new positions.

Miss DeCapita who is a graduate of Youngstown College and is completing work for her master's degree at Western Reserve University, has been employed at City Hospital since Aug. 11, 1952, as assistant director of nursing education.

Mrs. Stahl, who has her R.N. from Western Reserve, has been employed at City Hospital since March 22, 1948, as assistant director of nursing and has served as nursing arts instructor in the Hannah Mullins School of Nursing.

Teachers Here Re-appointed For Fall Term

No Vacancies Exist; List Approved By Board Monday Night

The Salem Board of Education last night re-appointed 126 teachers and supervisors for the Salem Public Schools.

Supt. of Schools E. S. Kerr said the appointments fill all vacancies in the fall term.

Beman G. Ludwig was re-appointed principal of Salem High School and Loren Early at the junior high. Other principals are Alta Peterson at Buckeye; Natalie Sharpnack, McKinley; Ora Montgomery, Prospect; Dorothy Smith, Reilly.

The instructors were re-appointed at about $600 a year above their September, 1953 salaries.

The increase includes a $400 across the board increase for all teachers which was effective Jan. 1 and about $200 a year for all instructors effective Sept. 1 as a part of the new salary schedule adopted recently for teachers.

Board expenditures for teachers' salaries in the year beginning September will total $71,000 a year more than the previous year, Mr. Kerr said.

Teachers for the 1954-55 term are:

High School
Beman G. Ludwig, principal, Alton Allen, Ben Barrett, Claribel Bickel, Joseph Boone, Chester Brautigam, Fred Burchfield, John Cabas, John Callahan, Eugene C. Cleveland.

NYC Elects Robert Young, A. E. Perlman

NEW YORK (AP)—The new regime of Robert R. Young buckled down today to the formidable task of running the nation's second largest railroad, the far-flung New York Central system.

Young and his board took over yesterday, an hour after they were officially proclaimed winner by 1,064,000 shares in their proxy battle with the management headed by William White.

The new board quickly elected Young as chairman — at $1 a year — and named Alfred E. Perlman, 51-year-old executive vice president of the Denver & Rio Grande Western, as president and chief executive officer.

Today, a spokesman said, Perlman will call in key operating men of the Central to talk over the road's problems. The Central is out-ranked in size only by the Pennsylvania Railroad.

White stepped down as president, as he said he would if Young won, as soon as the official tally of shareholders' votes was announced at Albany.

He promised to cooperate with the new management "in effecting an orderly transition."

In a statement, Young thanked those who supported him and declared: "We offer the warm hand of conciliation to those who willingly or unwillingly worked against us."

2 Injured In Road Mishaps

Columbiana Collision Hospitalizes Couple

Two persons were injured in one of four traffic mishaps on area highways Monday.

They were injured in a two-car collision at the Route 14 and 164 intersection north of Columbiana at 3:05 p.m. Monday.

State patrolmen said an auto driven by Margaret Morton, 30, of Hattiesburg, Miss., went through the stop sign on Route 164 and struck the Gibbs auto which was west-bound on Route 14.

Three Arrests Made
The resulting crash demolished Gibbs' auto and did considerable damage to the Morton car. Mrs. Morton was cited for failing to yield the right of way.

A dump truck operator and a motorist were arrested for driving violations after their two vehicles collided on Route 62, one-half mile north of Salem, at 10:55 a.m. yesterday.

According to the Patrol, the truck operated by Joseph Uber, 30, of 696 E. 7th St. slowed to make a right turn and the auto, driven by Burt J. Coburn, 37, of RD 3, Salem struck the truck in the rear.

Uber was cited by the Patrol for driving an unsafe vehicle and Coburn for reckless driving.

A similar mishap occurred on Route 9, a mile south of Salem, at 3:40 p.m. Monday between cars driven by William Englert, 20, of RD 1, Hanoverton and Edward Lesch, 40, of RD 4, Salem.

Both cars were southbound, patrolmen said, and Lesch pulled off to the right side of the road to make a left turn. The Englert car hit Lesch's auto in the rear.

Englert was cited for failing to stop in the assured clear distance and Lesch was charged with making an improper left turn.

An auto driven by Charles L. Stacey, 19, of RD 2, East Liverpool, left Route 30, half a mile north of East Liverpool, at 7:45 a.m. yesterday and struck a telephone pole. The driver escaped unhurt.

As a unit of the Youngstown and Mahoning County civil defense system, Columbiana sent a fleet of vehicles and personnel to Youngstown Monday to participate in the evening program there.

Lisbon To Advertise Sewage Plant Bids

LISBON — A resolution authorizing the advertising of bids for the construction of the proposed sewerage treatment plant and interceptor sewer system was passed at a special session of Council Monday night.

Council also accepted an offer by Securities Producers, Inc. of Cleveland to print 225 mortgage revenue bonds in $1,000 denominations at a cost of $185. The bonds will help finance the erection and maintenance of the plant to be located on a site east of here.

Ohio Civil Defense Operation Was Better Than Expected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The operation was "really better than we expected," said Maj. Gen. Leo M. Kreber of yesterday's civil defense test.

In that test, a mock atomic bombing "killed" 117,000 at Cincinnati.

When they had reported, the drill was on, with industrial and military target areas going through operations planned in the event a genuine attack should bring disaster.

At 1:40 p.m., EST, Cincinnati requested 39,000 whole blood units, 36,000 plasma and expander units which were sent by small planes. The city was struck at 11:13 a.m., EST, by an "atomic blast." Reports to the state control center at Westerville said 117,000 were "killed" and 60,000 "injured."

Stricken also were Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton, Youngstown, Steubenville, Akron, Canton, Ironton, Hamilton, Middletown, Elyria, Lorain, Springfield, Toledo and Lima.

The Public Square at Cleveland was cleared in 30 seconds.

Gen. Kreber said the five state control centers, near Cincinnati, McConnelsville, Alliance, Findlay and Chagrin Falls, confirmed the first alert in "excellent time."

It took six minutes for all counties to report back due largely to slowness of some counties in the Cambridge state highway patrol area, CD officials said.

As sirens sounded, fire equipment moved to strategic areas, American planes flew over disaster areas to survey damage and civil defense workers went to work on plans to bring relief to those hit by the "disaster."

Seederly said the air raid siren there did not function perfectly due to a mechanical defect. It was given a test of one short blast at 8 a.m. which showed it to be in working order.

Thirty auxiliary police and 20 air raid wardens were on duty in Columbiana, and 10 first aid stations were manned. Streets were cleared of pedestrians at the first sound of the siren, and vehicles quickly drew up to the side of the street.

As a unit of the Youngstown and Mahoning County civil defense system, Columbiana sent a fleet of vehicles and personnel to Youngstown Monday to participate in the evening program there.

Announcement of the course was made today by officials of the Salem Chapter, in conjunction with the scheduling of home nursing courses for the public which will start soon. Women interested may call the Red Cross office at 5219 to enroll.

Senior Girl Scouts are receiving training at present with another scout class to start shortly.

Private Session Held By Molotov, Anthony Eden

16 Nations Draft Statement On Ending Korea Discussion

GENEVA (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Russia's V. M. Molotov met in a hurriedly arranged private session today as the Geneva Conference appeared moving rapidly toward a breakdown.

The Soviet foreign minister requested the meeting as the 16 nations which fought in Korea on the U.N. side drafted a declaration saying further talks on Korean unification were useless at this time.

The 16 planned to present the statement at a session of the 19-nation Korean Conference. The U.N. Allies want to refer the Korean issue back to the international organization.

Indo Phase In Revers

The Indochina phase of the conference was in recess until tomorrow, when it will take up the Western demands that Communist-led Vietnam forces get out of Laos and Cambodia.

Western sources said Communist reaction to these demands on Laos and Cambodia would determine whether the Indochina talks will continue.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden made this clear at a secret session yesterday. He told the nine-party meeting that the Indochina conference had made but one solid achievement in its seven weeks of deliberation—the start of military discussions between representatives of the French Union and the Communist-led Vietnam.

May Not Continue

Eden was understood to have added that if the parley fails to make progress tomorrow on the problem of Laos and Cambodia, he was not sure it would be worthwhile to continue debate.

He suggested that a wise course might be to suspend discussion until the military commission finishes its work of drawing cease-fire lines. Informed quarters said the Briton was not thinking of any overnight recess, but of a considerable interval.

This was regarded as particularly significant since Eden in the earlier stages of the conference had been the most patient of the Western leaders.

The Communists previously have refused to treat Laos and Cambodia separately from Viet Nam, contending that the fighting in all three states stems from nationalist movements. France and her allies

Eden, Churchill To Visit U. S. This Month

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain are coming to Washington the weekend of June 25 for talks with President Eisenhower.

The President extended the invitation several weeks ago.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty, telling newsmen about their visit today, said it will be "an informal meeting between the President and his two friends" without any formal agenda.

Hagerty said "many things, a lot of things," will be discussed. The meeting comes at a time when Great Britain and the United States, powerful allies in World War II, no longer see eye to eye on various aspects of foreign policy and the effort to check Communism.

On the Indochina crisis, the two governments have been taking different approaches, particularly at the Geneva Conference.

Salineville Man Fined At Hanoverton

HANOVERTON — Kenneth E. Thompson of Salineville was arrested in Kensington Sunday at 12:15 a.m. by Constable Roy Painter on a charge of indecent exposure.

Brought before Justice of Peace C. L. Kneestrick, Monday at 4 p.m. Thompson pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $35 and costs.

A series of breaking windows in the Ohio State Garage of Kensington was reported by E. E. Gause, Monday. Investigation is being made by Constable Painter. Two automobiles were broken into in the same area.

ing more money than ever. The sad fact is that they aren't. "We had the best May ever. The Eastern Air Lines reports, "but we have to carry more passengers these days to make the same amount of money as a year ago."

Trans World Airlines also carried more passengers than in any other May, and American Airlines set a new record for any month by flying an estimated 325 million passenger miles. But, says American, it doesn't expect to make as much money in this quarter as it did in the same period a year ago.

United Airlines also notes a record May, but thinks a rise in fares wouldn't hurt at all. On that point, however, there's sharp disagreement in the industry; opponents contend that boosting fares would reduce the number of passengers.

What's the explanation for the airlines' smaller profits?

"Costs per plane mile are down and volume is up about 10 per cent over a year ago," comments one airline official. "The trouble is that we've been adding new equipment faster than passenger traffic has been growing."

This means that load factors—the percentage of available seats that are filled—have fallen to an unsatisfactory level, increasing costs per revenue mile.

And about all the airlines can do — since they are reluctant to trim schedule frequency very much — is to wait until passenger traffic catches up with the number of seats.

That's going to be some time, however. For the airlines are taking delivery of big new planes all the time, and will be for some months to come. After that, though, there should be a period of consolidation until the jets are ready to fly domestic routes.

There are other problems, too. The cost of wages and materials has continued to rise. And for some airlines there have been expenses connected with the introduction of new planes like the Douglas DC7. But the major problem remains that of filling a large percentage of available seats.

Because of the situation, more emphasis than ever is being put on the mass transportation end of the business—the so-called air coach or air tourist flights. TWA, a leader in this field, says that about 54 per cent of its passengers on domestic routes and 72 per cent of those on international flights travel tourist class. Pan American World Airways also is carrying more than 70 per cent tourist, but notes that this figure will decline once the summer travel season ends. Eastern Air Lines, which decided recently that the future lay with this cheaper form of transportation, now moves more than half its passengers on tourist flights.

Tourist fares are about 30 per cent cheaper than first class tariffs, and some airlines feel they should be raised since, these airlines say, there's hardly 30 per cent difference in the kind of service provided.

You'll also hear it said that there's not as much money in the air tourist business as in first class, but TWA disagrees. It's making considerably more on its tourist flights simply because the planes are carrying much bigger loads.

"It's a matter of how many dollars you take out of a flight that counts," says an official of this line.

Health Board To Aid Fair Concessionaires

LISBON — Policy governing food concessionaires planning to operate at the Columbiana County Fair in August will be decided at the monthly meeting of the County Board of Health Monday night at the Courthouse.

Attorney Howard Cole of Lisbon, will center around establishment of a fee to be charged to grantees, churches and other food handlers. This will mark the first meeting in six months the health board has convened with a county health commissioner present.

Dr. George Pantera, formerly of Buffalo, newly-hired health doctor, will be at the meeting and departmental policy will be discussed.

Bradley Approached With Senate Bid

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Retired General of the Army Omar N. Bradley says he was approached by "certain parties" to be the Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate from California but that he declined.

Bradley, a resident of West Los Angeles here for a USO fund-raising speech last night, told newsmen:

"I spent eight years in Washington, and I wouldn't go back there on a bet."

QUESTION MAN IN DEATH

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Police continued questioning Willie Sturgill, 43, of Dayton today in the shotgun death Monday of Earl Jenkins, 37, of Dayton. They said Sturgill was unable to give coherent statements. Police quoted neighbors of Jenkins as saying they saw Sturgill leave the Jenkins home Sunday with a shotgun.

Salem Bird Club Makes Field Trip

The Salem Bird Study Club went on a field trip Sunday afternoon to Coal Hollow near Wellsville and saw several interesting species of birds. Golden-winged, black and white, hooded, and worm-eating warblers were among the birds seen by the groups.

The 22 members and guests were under leadership of Albert T. Hartley of Columbiana. Two late migrants were seen by various members of the party, olive-skinned and least flycatchers. The olive-sided flycatcher is unusual at any time in this area, while the least flycatcher is least common in May. Observers look for the leaf catcher to nest in the country.

The next field trip of the club will be held Sunday, July 11, when a picnic lunch will be enjoyed at Tomlinson Run Park near Chester, W. Va.

The next meeting will be Friday, July 2, at 8 p.m. in the Memorial Building.

Rev. Goldhardt Returns To U. S.

Brings Family With Him From N. Guinea

COLUMBIANA — The Rev. and Mrs. Ralph Goldhardt, Luther a missionaries in New Guinea for the last seven years, have arrived in the United States for a furlough of one year. After having spent a few days at Grove City, near Columbus, his former home, they are expected here the last of this week to be guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Yarian, 387 S. Main St.

Mrs. Goldhardt, the former Miss Julia Yarian, and the Rev. Mr. Goldhardt, were married in Jerusalem Lutheran Church here in 1946, and he continued his pastoral work at Sunman, Ind., for about a year after their marriage. In the spring of 1947, they sailed for New Guinea, where they have been stationed since.

Their three children, two girls and a boy, all born in New Guinea, will meet their grandparents for the first time. The parents report that the children have been amazed at the wonders of civilization.

THOMAS SAYERS, JR., who has completed basic training at Keesler Air Force Base, Biloxi, Miss., is at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sayres, 412 S. Main St., for a 30-day furlough before reporting to Oakland, Calif., for transfer to Japan, where he is to serve 30 months. His brother, Gary, has been in the Navy postal service in Japan a couple of years. Thomas is accompanying Matthew Powers and Robert Douglas to Jacksonville, Fla., to bring home Powers' son, Milton, who has been a naval instructor there.

COLUMBIANA County Council of the American Legion will hold its July meeting Friday evening, July 9, in Hanoverton, home of the new county commander, Dale Brenner.

The Rev. George W. Peters of Midland, Texas, retired member of Northeast Ohio Methodist Conference, pastor of the Columbiana Church 27 years ago, was a weekend guest in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Ray J. Miller, 216 Court St., and their son, Gerald, in Boardman.

The Rev. Mr. Peters participated in the Sunday morning service in the Columbiana church. He came North to visit his son, George, in Warren and to attend the conference session at Lakeside.

Members of the Ladies' Auxilary of Firestone American Legion Post are requested to take their tax stamps to the June meeting in the Legion home tomorrow evening, when officers will be elected for the 12-month term. Columbiana County Council of the auxiliary will meet in East Palestine at 8 p.m. today.

MISS LINDA FISHER of Columbiana, student at Capital University, Columbus, has a position as secretary - receptionist at WNBS, Columbus television station. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fisher, N. Middle St.

Donald McCready, sergeant first class, is now in charge of the armed services recruiting office maintained in Columbiana city hall from 9 a.m. until noon Tuesdays and Fridays. S. Sgt. Gerald E. Jonas, previously in charge, is now at Ft. Meade, Md. for further schooling.

For the picnic of Columbiana County fruit growers and their families at Mill-Pic Park, west of New Waterford on the Columbiana-New Waterford Road, next Saturday, those attending are to take sandwiches, covered dishes and table service for the dinner at 6:30 p.m.

Coffee, ice cream and pop will be provided. W. H. Matthews of Salem will show pictures of a trip in the Canadian Rockies. Ralph Cook and Jim Smeltzer of Lisbon, will provide other entertainment.

The meeting is sponsored by the Columbiana County Horticultural Society. Directing signs will post on highways leading to the park.

Bidders Not Attracted By McCarthy Book

WYNANTSKILL, N. Y., (AP) — Sen. McCarthy's donation to the Kiwanis Club auction brought $6 less than a baseball autographed by members of the New York Giants and 25 cents less than a Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute hockey stick.

A bidder paid $7.25 for the autographed ball, while the Wisconsin Republican's gift—a copy of his book "McCarthyism — The Fight for America"—was knocked down for $1.25. The hockey stick sold for $1.50.

Celebrities are asked annually to provide items for the auction.

WOMAN BURNS TO DEATH

LONDON, Ohio (AP)—Sheriff Herbert Markley said Mrs. A. J. Lansing, 89, of South Solon apparently burned to death yesterday when her clothing caught fire from a kitchen stove. The charred body was found by a neighbor.

Congress Highlights

WASHINGTON (AP)—Francis P. Carr, staff director of the Senate Investigations subcommittee, returns for his second day of public testimony in the McCarthy-Army hearings.

The subcommittee's chief counsel Roy M. Cohn, is expected to follow Carr to the stand. Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) also will be called later for additional cross-examination.

FOREIGN TRADE — The Senate Finance Committee considers in closed session a House-passed bill that would extend for one year the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act. This measure permits President Eisenhower to negotiate trade pacts with other nations.

On The Alert

Results of Monday's civil defense drill were inconclusive. The drill, itself, was inconclusive.

Its main purpose, one suspects, was to show how much remains to be done before the probable target areas of the United States could claim a theoretical defense against aerial attack.

They are wide open not only to A-bombs and H-bombs but to the ordinary bombs used in World War II. One blockbuster dropped on Times Square in New York, or one stick of fire bombs strewn over the wooden-tenement district of any of a dozen probable target cities in the United States would create havoc.

The fact is the American people are not even mentally prepared for the kind of war millions of Europeans and Britons experienced in World War II, much less for the kind of war that blasted, seared and maimed hundreds of thousands of Japanese with A-bombs in 1945.

Americans are as poorly prepared in their minds for the kind of war they would have to fight in their own cities if war came as spear-brandishing Ethiopians were when they faced Italian machineguns in 1935. They had no real civil defense in 1945 when World War II ended and no more that they have been forced to accept in 1954—when World War III could begin at any instant with a secret decision by a handful of men in the Kremlin.

Shift In Washington Emphasis

President Eisenhower's earnest appeal for action on the proposals he has made to Congress since last January show how the shift in Washington emphasis has changed popular attitudes about government.

Except for a few citizens with special reasons to be interested, most Americans do not even know what President Eisenhower has proposed.

Formerly, when Congress rounded into the home stretch, the public was deeply preoccupied with the legislative issues awaiting decision. Not infrequently the issues were burning ones discussed as intensely as the questions raised since last February by the quarrel between the Department of the Army and Sen. McCarthy.

The logic and lack of logic in congressional debate were discussed freely. While the White House sometimes appealed to the public over congressional heads for support—Theodore Roosevelt mastered the knack of the direct appeal—it would have been most unusual for the White House to have needed to remind the public that a legislative program existed and was being neglected.

Although congressional committees have been going about their chores and important spade work has been done on the appropriation bills, the hardest task confronting each session of Congress, the main emphasis in government since last February has been on a running quarrel between persons. The legislative function has been obscured by what some observers believe is principally a new outbreak of the long-standing feud between the legislative and executive branches of the federal government.

In any event, the investigative function has been getting the lion's share of attention throughout the second session of the 83rd Congress.

Yet it stands to reason that when the Army-McCarthy hearings are finally over, there will be a revival of interest in the legislative function of Congress and what was done with it in 1954. Mr. Eisenhower, looking ahead to November, sees a good reason to recommend "less political fission and more political fusion."

Metering The Laws

Commerce Clearing House, which keeps track of tax and business legislation, reports that more bills than ever have been introduced in the state legislatures in session this year.

A record crop of laws is in sight.

Together with the crop that will be forthcoming next year, new legislation will have lawyers and their clients floundering in a tidal wave of test cases, complete with unforeseen sleepers, jokers and gimmicks.

The tidal wave of law is running so irresistibly that a trend toward yearly sessions of state legislatures is visible. Six states which have been getting along with a legislative session every second year now are going through the process of changing to an annual basis.

It makes a law-abiding citizen wonder what ever became of that scheme for metering state laws. The scheme would work like this:

Each state constitution would specify that the new laws passed by each legislature could not exceed a specified number and that passage of each new law had to be offset by repeal of two old ones.

In the course of a generation, a lot of old laws could be disposed of in this manner, and there would have been only half as many new ones to clog up the channels of jurisprudence.

In a hundred years, state codes would have been reduced to minimum essentials.

About the only thing you can get for nothing these days is cheated.

Nemesis To Reds

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Exposure Most Effective Weapon Against Kremlin

There's more than meets the eye in the philosophic discourse by day at his press conference about the global nature of the Communist problem.

The President stressed that the dilemma is not to be solved by military strength alone but by proper strategy in the field of the economic, the intellectual and the spiritual.

Coincidentally, Secretary of State Dulles was telling a Seattle audience that the Communists are the biggest fakers in the world—even as they cry out about "colonialism," they themselves have added 600 million people to their system of bondage since 1945.

Perhaps the most perplexing aspect of it is the fact that there are in the world many areas where desirable reforms or social changes should take place. Thus "colonialism," as it is known in Africa or in Asia, constituted a serious problem long before the Communists overthrew the czar's government in 1917.

Likewise, conditions of exploitation which are deplorable have existed in Guatemala and other Latin-American countries. The Communist agitators are taking advantage of those weaknesses now.

THE MOSCOW government itself, however, isn't sincerely interested in any humanitarian or social reforms anywhere in the world. Nor is it interested in Latin America or in North Africa or in the Near East merely to promote discord, as so many observers mistakenly believe.

The real aim is to get possession, by revolution or otherwise, of the mind of the man who occupies the post of minister of foreign affairs or the man who directs him. To line up votes in the United Nations or to get enough influence to block collective action of any kind against Soviet Russia is the sole purpose of the work of all Communist agents throughout the world today.

The Latin-American field has been invaded by the Communist agents because this means a break-up of the influence of a Latin-American bloc of votes in the United Nations which usually goes along with this country's policies.

The Communist purpose in stirring up trouble in the French possessions in North Africa is to gain political strength in Paris inside the French Parliament so as to enable the Soviet strategists to exercise a veto on what the French foreign minister may do in conferences with the United States. It's a "fifth column" worse than the one that ruined France in 1940.

THE PARAMOUNT question then is what can the free governments do, faced as they are by the knowledge that many of the conditions under which natives and underprivileged citizens have been exploited ought to be removed because, as in Indochina, rebellion can be stimulated if something is not done to give the natives their independence.

The strategy of the major powers in the world must inevitably be concentrated on exposure of the Communist tactics. This would reveal the dangers and would warn the smaller nations and colonial groups that they face a greater tyranny if they lose the sympathetic protection of the free governments.

Reforms are vital, but they can never be completely established in wartime. As long as the "cold war" goes on, it is risky to set up weak independent governments that can be used as puppets by Soviet Russia.

That's why the first job is to expose and eradicate Communist influence in every Near Eastern capital and in every country in Africa. Then the program for independence and reform will have some chance of permanency when it is achieved.

A WORLDWIDE inquiry into Communist tactics ought to be undertaken, but unfortunately the United Nations doesn't have the machinery or the determination to do it. Also the Communist political influence can block it there.

If the governments of Great Britain, France and America, however, could persuade every one of the smaller governments in the world to join in an exposure of Communist agents in the various countries, it would do much to hasten the day when real protection and help can be given those countries.

The Communist conspiracy, using funds transmitted through agents in free countries, is an active operation which needs to be fully brought to public attention everywhere if the Kremlin is to be defeated in the "cold war."

French Politics

By MARTIN S. HAYDEN

BONN, GERMANY
The 77-year-old man known to Europe's statesmen as "the old one" is awaiting the results of the new French political convulsion. They may determine the future of democracy in the German state.

Konrad Adenauer explained it all last week to 40 American reporters in an unprecedented news conference that covered a decade of war, invasion and reconstruction.

It was a moving scene in the Orante Palais Schaumburg of the Hohenzollerns as the German chancellor met with the newsmen, veterans of the Normandy D-Day of 1944, who are now completing a 10-day air tour of the route that took them a decade ago from Omaha Beach to Hitler's death bunker in Berlin.

The old chancellor recalled that, as a Gestapo prisoner under house arrest in June, 1944 he, like many other Hitler enemies, viewed the American landing as the certain beginning of Nazism's end and a return of freedom to Germany.

Now, a decade later, the reconstructed western world faces the threat of a dictatorship that is "worse, stronger and more cruel" than Hitler's.

He made it clear that in his opinion the decisions that French politicians make within the next few weeks on their country's foreign policy future could decide Europe's fate.

"He who believes it possible to impress . . . an understanding with a dictator without first equaling his strength," said Adenauer, "has the wrong idea of a dictator's mentality."

"We are all now firmly convinced that Hitler would never have started the last war if he had faced a unified free world. Since that did not exist, he set out to subjugate one nation at a time and conquer the whole world."

THE CHANCELLOR made it sound like a replay of history as he switched from Hitler's approach in 1939 to the attitudes of Russia and the western nations at the present Geneva peace search.

"On the one hand," he said, "you have the clear determined policy of Communism; on the other the evidence that the western nations' cooperation is showing its weak spots. That impression of western disagreement is the great danger the free world faces today."

Adenauer believes Soviet Russia is motivated by fear of one thing: The power of the United States. That, he said, underlies the cold-war campaign from Moscow.

"The U.S.S.R.," he said, "seeks control for a future war on the industrial and population capacity of western Europe. Once the West agrees upon the European army and a European political community, the U.S.S.R. will ask itself whether the cold war is serving any useful purpose and whether it would not be best to meet the western world sincerely around a conference table. Her internal problems will require a 'no' to the first question and a 'yes' to the second."

The European Defense Community, declared Adenauer, is the key to the puzzle. He implied the world fate may be tangled in the jumbled politics of the French Chamber of Deputies.

"I am shocked to read," he said, "that both the Communists and the DeGaullists say it is up to them to save France. That is disturbing and strange, but I hope and believe that once the French Assembly is finally forced to say either 'yes' or 'no' on EDC it will say 'yes'."

The Good Earth

Communism In Latin America Is Real Problem

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

John Foster Dulles often raises his speeches above the mediocrity which is so current these days. It would seem that the speech Sokolsky can lead to such distortions as to cause confusion by the unmodified terms used and the lack of full explanations.

In all the current concentration on Communism and anti-Communism, one of the most misunderstood statements is J. Edgar Hoover's figure that the Communist party membership is down to 25,000.

The director of the FBI also stated that never before was the situation as regards Communists in this country so serious.

The second part of the statement has gone unnoticed, but the figure 25,000 has been used in the McCarthy-Stevens hearings to give the impression that the Communist conspiracy is no longer a menace.

ACTUALLY, the party has purged itself of weak and doubtful members and the espionage groups are under other than party control.

In his Caracas speech, John Foster Dulles painted the picture with photographic accuracy when he said:

"We, here in the Americas, are not immune from that threat of Soviet Communism. There is not a single country in this hemisphere which has not been penetrated by the apparatus of international Communism, acting under orders from Moscow. Not one of us knows fully the extent of that conspiracy. From time to time small parts are detected and exposed."

Mr. Dulles went on to say that the earliest post-war exposure was by the Canadian Royal Commission. He might have said that the first exposure was made in the United States by Dr. William Wirt, the educator from Gary, Ind., and then by the House Committee on Un-American Activities under the chairmanhip of Martin Dies.

It was this committee which eventually unearthed the Whittaker Chambers-Alger Hiss situation that led to the Hiss trials and conviction that so startled the American people. Dulles added:

"In the United States there has been a succession of exposures and judicial convictions which prove international Communism plots against our form of government. I venture to say every delegate here knows of similar activities within his own country which are being conducted from Moscow or way stations."

"This Communist conspiracy is not to be taken lightly . . ."

THOSE, THEREFORE, who accept the assumption that because the Communist party now only has 25,000 members it is not effective make a serious mistake that requires correction.

The menace is now even greater than in the 1930's because the party is largely underground and because it is no longer, in any respect, an international party in the sense that its constituent members have a voice in its management; it has become strictly an arm of Soviet imperialism, directly managed and solely controlled by the Kremlin.

When Jacques Duclos, the Frenchman, sends congratulations to Ho Chi Minh, the enemy of France, he speaks not as a Frenchman but as a Russian, serving Russian policy.

It must be recalled, in this connection, that it was Duclos who gave the American Communist party notice in 1945 to rid itself of Earl Browder whose Communist political association was strongly affected by American nationalism. Such Communists as Duclos act as Russian agents.

This marks the major difference between the Comintern and the Soviet universal state, with which we are now engaged in an indescribable type of war. A characteristic of this type of war is political infiltration into an enemy country.

THE LATIN-AMERICAN phase of this problem has been serious for many years, as early as when Constantine Oumansky, who was killed in an airplane accident on January 25, 1945, was operating in that area. That the Russians have been successful is due in no small measure to the refusal of the American government and people to take the Soviet drive in every Latin-American country seriously.

It can be said that John Foster Dulles is the first secretary of State since 1933 who has understood this problem and taken it seriously enough to try to deal with it realistically.

The habit of not being realistic about its strong in the land. Latin America may turn out to be our most serious problem.

Key To Peace

By TRUMAN TWILL

Here is the kind of a story that makes skeptics wonder about scientific research to discover what already was known on a non-scientific basis.

A scientist recently read a paper to a convention of psychologists in Montreal explaining how he had trained a rat-killing alley cat to live in the same cage with a rat. He thinks this has bearing on the peace of the world. He thinks people could be trained the same way, because people are animals too.

It is a common sight at our house to see a kitten curled up against the belly of a dog, both the kitten and the dog sound asleep.

Our Irish setter, a bird dog, will lie with his head on his paws and watch a cock pheasant and a flock of hens walk across the yard.

Our cats get as much fun out of catching birds as cats anywhere, but they will find something more interesting to look at when there are little ducks running about.

Despite the fact sheep are the most timid of all sizeable animals, which is the heart of the problem about sheep-killing dogs, our dogs will not look cross-eyed at a sheep because on half a dozen occasions ewes with lambs by their sides have butted the breath out of a dog without unwittingly came too close.

The psychology involved in these commonplace instances of mutual respect needs no research to make it understandable. It is based on simple understandings and experiences.

Our dogs chased cats when they moved to RFD. But when we acquired a cat accustomed to dogs—a cat that wouldn't run—all cat-chasing stopped.

Our bird dog has a strong instinct to pin everything with feathers to the mat with one paw. He can get the fowl or bird into his mouth and bring it back to his master. The first thing he pinned down was a rooster, which was rescued in the nick of time. The dog was reprimanded. From that time on, anything with feathers is safe unless he encounters it off limits.

The reason cats stay clear of little ducks is because the mother duck has demonstrated how she can flap a marauding cat into cat files. Here as in the case of the sheep, the understanding is based on a demonstration of ability to fight for the right to live.

It's as simple as the rule that every human being learns to follow when confronted with a bully. If the bully can get away with it, he will shove his victims off the face of the earth.

But prove to him he cannot get away with it, and chances are he will try to be your best friend.

There has been a lot of shoving going on for 25 years. The bullies have been getting away with it in great shape. There has been nothing, in sight to stop them. Cats have been chasing rats. Dogs have been chasing cats. People who enjoy shoving other people around have been shoving them around by the millions.

They will keep on shoving until they are stopped. That is the way the animal mind, human and otherwise, works. It shouldn't take a scientific research project to figure that out.

Even the little kids on the playground learn about that in their first week at school, or they end up with complexes and fixations about misunderstanding and persecution.

Radio astronomy, new scientific field, includes the detection and interpretation of radio waves which are being sent to the earth from many parts of the universe.

Interlude At Camp Kilmer

("Roy Cohn will take a postponed summer training at the camp commanded by General Zwicker"—News item.)

General—Fall in.

Cohn—May I answer that in my own way?

General—Didn't you hear my command?

Cohn—Would you mind repeating that question?

General—Take your place in the line. Haven't I met you some place before?

Cohn—I will give you a yes or no answer to that, sir, Yes.

General—Your face is familiar, but I don't recall the docility. Oh, I remember where we met!

Cohn—Must you? I was afraid of that, sir. General—It seems to me it was at some sort of a hearing.

Cohn—At this point may I have counsel?

General—Do you need counsel?

Cohn—At this juncture in my life I have an idea I need counsel, deputy counsel, bodyguards and a two-platoon defense system.

General—I suppose you know why you are here?

Cohn—I understand I will get some combat training.

General—You were never so right, boy! Have you had any combat training?

Cohn—If my last ten days on the witness stand didn't constitute combat training, nothing ever will.

General—Specifically, what sort of training did you get?

Cohn—McClellan shellfire, the Jackson commando routine, the Jenkins jungle warfare course and all the May-I-refresh-Your-Recollection techniques.

General—Have you ever done any KP duty? Cohn—No, but something tells me I will get plenty for the next two weeks.

General—How are you on wall scaling?

Cohn—I'll make you a proposition. . . you point out the nearest wall and I'll see what I can do.

General—As in the case with all new men we have to ask this question: Do you need any dental work?

Cohn—I knew the Peress case would be drawn into this tour of duty at some time or another!

General—Report to the firing range for shooting.

Cohn—Joe! Yoo ho, Joe!

It seems to us that the Army-McCarthy TV production completely lacked showmanship. . . . Otherwise they would have put Liberman into the act somewhere.

LEXICON FOR A WASHINGTON QUIZ

"I have only a few questions." . . . (Stand by for a dull hour, men.)

"All I want is the complete truth." . . . (Watch out for the monkey wrench!)

"In the interests of clarification." . . . (Any move that will foul up the record, make the TV audience groggy and stall operations another twenty-four hours.)

"Let's put all our cards on the table." . . . (Generally a prelude to "I object to that line of questioning.")

"I propose to be very brief." . . . (Gangway for another gas attack!)

"I have the deepest respect for my esteemed fellow senator." . . . (Look out below, Bub!)

"It is my purpose to help expedite these hearings." . . . (Everybody get set for another strain on the ears!)

"The committee will recess for five minutes." . . . All out for a half-hour.)

"Night Club Robbed of $25,000"—Headline. Oh, well, turnabout is fair play.

Adlai Stevenson says that under the Administration we are suffering from a neurosis.

The "Neuroses Deal?" "Why have we grown afraid of ourselves?" he asks. "Why have we given in to the bleatings of those who say it is dangerous for a man to have an idea?" . . . We don't follow you, Adlai. . .

Who's afraid unless he has something to hide? . . . Name anybody who thinks the whole nation is a security risk! . . . And were those who exposed Alger Hiss, Harry Dexter White and others just "BLEATING THAT IT WAS DANGEROUS TO HAVE AN IDEA!" Huh?

Lisbon Defeats Leetonia 9-8; Demings Beats Furnace 12-3

2 Late Rallies Highlight Play

Salem Tool Defeats Paul and Joe 10-3

Two thrilling late rallies featured action in city softball league play at Joe Kelley Field Monday evening.

After trailing 7-0, Lisbon fought back in the last three innings to nip Leetonia 9-8, and Demings came up with eight runs in the fifth, after trailing earlier in the tilt, to whip Electric Furnace 12-3.

Salem Tool continued its winning pace in other league play last night, tripping Paul and Joe 10-3.

Lisbon 9, Leetonia 8

Leetonia jumped out to a quick 2-0 first inning lead on homeruns by Don Bell and Don Briden. In the fourth, Guy Beltempo tripled and came home on Bousier De-Jane's hit to make it 3-0. Threatening a run away, Leetonia made it 7-0 in the fifth when Bell's two-run triple highlighted a four-run rally.

Then, Lisbon punching four hits in the fifth including doubles by Jerry Siefke and Bob Fauls, tallied four runs, leaving a 7-4 score. In the next inning, Lisbon tied the game on Felix Rutecki's round tripper and hits by Jerry Brinker, Siefke and Paul Cartright.

In the top of the seventh, following two walks, Sam Tingle stole home for a decisive Leetonia run. However, in the bottom of the seventh, Lisbon came back as John McDevitt blasted a homerun to tie the count. Bill Mattix was safe on second after a two-base error and the run crossed the plate on Rutecki's smash which the Leetonia infield couldn't handle.

Pacing the 14-hit attack, Lisbon's Siefke, Cartwright, Rutecki and Brinker all had three hits. Beltempo, Bell and Tingle each had two to lead the losers.

Demings 12, Electric Furnace 3

A wild 8-run fifth inning, sparked by Dick Boughton's grand-slam homerun for the last four tallies, led the Demings crew to victory. Dave Ehrhart and Ken Schoeni each had doubles in the fifth, which saw the runs score with one out. After Demings scored a run in the second, Furnace went out in front 3-1 in the third. However, the winners picked up three themselves in the fourth and won the game in the fifth.

In addition to his four-ply sock, Boughton had a double and single to take the night's batting honors. Dick Wyss had a single and a double and Lee Hahn and Steve Cible hit triples for the winners.

Dave Ehrhart turned in the evening's best pitching performance, limiting Furnace to only two safeties.

Salem Tool, 10, Paul and Joe 3

Scoring nine runs off eight hits in the first three innings, Tool was never in trouble. The winners collected 10 hits while Paul and Joe had seven off Leo Kline, Tool hurler. John Baker, Tom Cope and Tom Pastier each had two hits for the winners. Willie Noguera led the losers with a pair of bingles.

Williams In Hospital With Virus Infection

BOSTON (AP)—Ted Williams, Boston's power-hitting outfielder, was still confined to his hotel suite today with a virus infection that will keep him from joining the Red Sox for an indefinite period of time.

Williams has been out of action for nine days but only yesterday, when the team planned for Detroit for the start of a Western trip, was the seriousness of his ailment revealed.

"Williams has a viral infection of the right lung, bordering on pneumonia," said team physician Dr. Timothy Lamphier.

Play Opens Tonight In County Grange Contest

Butler Grange will play Mile Branch Grange tonight at 7 p. m. at Lake Placencia in the opening round of the County Grange tournament.

Sunday night, Butler Grange lost an 8-7 decision to General Fireproofing in Youngstown. Dick Jackson and Glenn Mercer split hurling duties, allowing nine hits and giving up three walks.

Joe Vogelhuber and Jerry Mountz were batting stars, each collecting two hits. One of Vogelhuber's drives was a 300-foot homer.

SHELTON AIMS AT SEVEN FEET. Ernie Shelton of USC, who's high-jumped 6 feet, 9¾ inches for the best mark in the nation this year, demonstrates in this series of pictures the style he hopes will enable him to hit the magic seven-foot mark, possibly May 15 in the Fresno relays. He wears spikes only on his takeoff foot and is jumping 6-6 here. Once this year in practice he got over the bar at 7 feet, ¾ inch, but kicked it off on the way down.

Major League Clubs Doing Better On Road Than At Home

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

The major league ball clubs were on the move again today wondering what ever became of home sweet home.

Back in the Old Days — that elusive period when everything was better — the teams counted on building up a nice bulge on home stands.

Seven of the eight senior circuit teams can't win for losing in their own parks this year. The single exception is the New York Giants.

The Giants have won 13 and lost 8 in the Polo Grounds. Next best home record is Brooklyn's 9-10.

If things continue to go as they have so far, the immediate future looks bright for Giant fans. Both the Dodgers and Giants open long home stands tonight—The Dodgers against Milwaukee's Braves, whose 14-6 mark is the best record in the league, and the Giants against the Cincinnati Redlegs, who are 11-11 away from home.

In the American League, Cleveland, Chicago and New York, 1-23 in the standings, own winning records both at home and away. Of the other five, Philadelphia is even at home and the others haven't been able to keep on the plus side regardless of where they've played.

Just as the Giants' prospects look bright, so do the immediate hopes of the league-leading Indians. Cleveland has the best home record in either league—16 victories and 6 defeats—and opens a 13-game home stand tonight, against Washington.

Cleveland stretched its lead to two games over Chicago yesterday by beating Boston for the fifth straight time. The score was 13-5 with the Indians unloading 2 hits against Bill Henry. Tom Herrin and Tom Brewer. The game was the only action in the American League.

In the National League's single contest, the Chicago Cubs defeated the Pirates at Pittsburgh 6-5. Hank Sauer's 20th home run, with Ralph Kiner on base, gave the Cubs the deciding runs.

The road clubs took the honors in the intersectional battles just completed. In the National League the East, led by New York and Brooklyn, mopped up in the West, 32 games to 17. The touring Western teams beat the East 30-27 in the American.

Today the Yankees hit the road in Baltimore, Boston is at Detroit and Philadelphia in Chicago, in addition to the Washington-Cleveland contest. The National League program of three games includes St. Louis at Philadelphia plus the Braves-Dodgers and Reds-Giants engagements.

Bavasi admitted he has been talking with Chicago, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh.

Famous Horses To Vie At Cleveland Track

Hasty Road and Correlation. Two of the most famous stars in racing are among those nominated for the $25,000 Ohio Derby at Thistledown Saturday, July 10.

Hasty Road, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Allie Reuben of Toledo, was one of the top three juveniles in 1953 and set an all time record for money earned by a two year old when he won $277,132. This season Hasty Road was second in the Kentucky Derby and won the 78th running of the famous $100,000 Preakness.

R. S. Lytle's Correlation was the beaten favorite in both the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness but earlier this year the California colt took two $100,000 stakes, the Florida Derby and the Wood Memorial.

The first stakes, the $5,000 Susan, will be run this Saturday afternoon at the Cleveland track.

Indians Return Home Today For 13 Games In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland's Indians come home today for 13 games in the series at Washington, topping a successful eastern trip by routing the Boston Red Sox in a five-game series.

The Indians, who won yesterday 13-5, clobbered the Bostonians for 22 hits in that game, nine more than they ran up in their entire previous three-game series with the Washington Nationals.

First to tangle with the Indians in their home stand beginning tonight, the Nats won two of the game in the series at Washington.

On their eastern swing, which began June 2, the Indians rolled up a 10-4 record, despite the absences for most of the games of their leading sluggers, Al Rosen and Bob Avila.

The cellar-dwelling Red Sox took their eighth straight licking from the Indians yesterday and their seventh straight loss in Fenway Park.

George Strickland hit a three-run homer in the fifth inning, his fourth of the season. He was followed by Al Smith—out of the lineup recently with a sore leg—who smacked his third homer of the season. Another run was added when Vic Wertz doubled, scoring Larry Doby, who had beat out a bunt. The inning's scoring started when Bob Lemon doubled, scoring Wally Westlake, who had walked. Altogether, six runs were scored in the fifth, making the score, 9-0.

Lemon posted his eighth victory against three losses. Ray Narleski relieved him at the end of seven innings. Bill Henry was the loser. The Cleveland assault started in the second, when the bases were filled and Rudy Regalado was hit by a pitched ball, forcing in Jim Hegan.

Singles by Dave Philley, Hank Majeski, Hegan and Lemon added two more in the third.

In the ninth, Strickland, Doby and Majeski hit singles and Smith and Westlake doubled, adding four more runs.

A five-run rally in the sixth inning brought Bloombergs to an 11-7 win over the Presbyterians Monday at Kelley Field in Class B play.

With Bloombergs leading 5-2, the Presbyterians tied it with a three-run outburst in the bottom of the fifth. However, the winners came right back with their five-run spree in the sixth to ice the verdict.

Third baseman Ron Bruckner led the winners with three runs and two hits.

V. F. W., Furnace Win Little League Games

A pair of closely-fought, one-run battles, both of which were decided in the last inning, highlighted Little League play last night at Centennial Park as VFW edged Fishers 6-5 and Electric Furnace nipped Mullins 7-6.

Trailing by one run going into the final frame, VFW came up with two runs to bag the decision. Both teams scored lone counters in the first and third innings, but the losers registered three runs in the second while VFW managed two in the same stanza.

baum allowed six hits as his team accumulated seven safeties. Krichbaum had two hits to help his own cause and David Hunter had two safeties for the losers.

In the other tilt, Electric Furnace won its game with a three-run outburst in the top of the last final canto.

The score was tied at 4-all at the end of three innings, but Mullins notched single runs in the fourth and fifth to lead 6-4 and set the stage for Furnace's winning three-run rally.

Winning hurler Danny Krichbaum only four hits He and Tom Furlong paced the winners with two safeties each.

Hogan, Snead Are Beset By Ailments

SPRINGFIELD, N. J. (AP)—This may be the year for a young professional tuned to tournament sharpness by constant play, to break Ben Hogan's monopoly on the U.S. Open golf title.

That rather cautious prediction, backed by clinical reports on the ailments of the two top contestants, came today from Baltusrol pro Johnny Farrell, the "host" for the 54th Open starting Thursday.

Farrell's forecast was based more on the condition of the lush, lengthy Baltusrol lower course than on the condition of Hogan and Sam Snead.

But to the general public, Hogan and Snead still were the men and their ailments were top news. Hogan still is recovering from an illness that delayed his participation in National Golf Day. Snead has come up with a stiff, sore neck and shoulder that interferes with his shotmaking.

"I'm not ready for the tournament, but if this doesn't get any worse I'll start," Sam said after playing a practice round yesterday.

By contrast Hogan, who recently said he didn't see how he could win his fifth Open championship this week, was almost optimistic.

"I'm about over that virus," Hogan said. "I still go to the doctor every day and I spend a lot of time resting, but I feel pretty well."

"You'd be silly to say Hogan and Snead aren't the favorites," Farrell continued, "but they haven't been playing too much and it wouldn't surprise me if some young player off the tour beat them out."

"Those fellows like Ted Kroll, Bob Toski, Tommy Bolt, Bill Campbell, who played so well in England, Bob Rosburg and Jay Herbert, all have been playing good golf and winning tournaments."

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

It has now cost almost a billion dollars to fight the mobs on the New York waterfront over the years.

We might just as well the secretary this money to have given of the treasury of the U.S. to help balance the national budget — for all the good it has done the fight against the most powerful underworld combine in the nation.

Not only are the mobs still on the waterfront across which moves $16 billion dollars worth of the nation's foreign business, but Harry Bridges' pro-Soviet representatives now have a toehold on the section of the waterfront used by the U.S. Army as a supply shipping base feeding our Arctic, European, Near Eastern and African outposts.

That billion dollar figure may startle you; so let me break it down.

New York City foreign trade experts put the loss resulting from the illegal docks strike of the old International Longshoremen's Assn. this spring at about 500 million dollars in wages, delayed cargoes, lost profits and spoilage.

THIS STRIKE, growing out of the feud between the old ILA and AFL, which has been attempting to drive the old union off the docks of the world's greatest harbor, was one of a decade — long series of such work stoppages, some of which cost the metropolitan area as much as 100 million dollars. Some were the outgrowth of skirmishes carried on by crusading elements in the ILA before its expulsion from the AFL. All of these were climaxed in a National Labor Relations Board election last Wednesday, which the AFL lost by a tiny margin.

Millions of dollars more have been spent by government agencies to investigate the waterfront. The FBI alone spent well over $500,000 last year on this job—and it is far from finished.

The Bi State (New York-New Jersey) Waterfront Commission is spending $2,021,560 a year, which is two per cent of the $101,078,000 shipping company payroll in the area.

In addition to hundreds of FBI agents, thousands of policemen from the forces of several cities have been thrown into the waterfront war.

Grand juries and district attorneys have been tied up by the feud, some for years. The cost in wages, salaries and expenses for this manpower over the years, is enormous and incalculable.

LABOR HAS PAID heavily too. The AFL spent $870,000 in eight months on the fight, which is a mighty big chunk of its treasury. The AFL national treasury, contrary to belief, is not in the scores of millions. Its income is about 4 million dollars a year. And it spends most of it on operating expenses.

Paul Hall's AFL Seafarers' Union, which carried the brunt of the fight against the old International Longshoremen's Assn., used over $200,000.

John Lewis, who moved in to become a power on the New York waterfront, lent the old ILA at most $300,000 — which, of course, is gone.

On the defensive, the old union itself is estimated to have spent between $50,000 and $100,000—and still has enormous printing bills coming due. Much of the job printing industry in New York would have heart trouble if the old ILA lost. It spent heavy dough getting out multi-lingual propaganda literature.

And, of course, there's Harry Bridges. On the record, his West Coast Longshoremen went for only $3,600 in donations to the lieutenants of "Tough Tony" Anastasio.

HER MOTHER, TWO BROTHERS, ARE DEAD—Shirley Haberman, 13, Becker, Minn., sits dazed beside wrecked automobile after a crash near St. Cloud, Minn., that took the lives of her mother and two of her brothers. The body of the woman, Mrs. Fred Haberman, 50, mother of 13, is still in the auto. The car was involved in a collision at an intersection with unrestricted visibility. The motor of one of the cars was hurled 40 feet by the impact.

Brooklyn boss of the old Longshoremen's outfit. But Bridges' apparatus must have spent scores of thousands of dollars.

The West Coast pro-Communist labor chief had squads of men here directed by two to six men teams, depending on the moment and the urgency of the job assigned them.

NOW THE OLD ILA seems to have been selected by the majority of the dockworkers. The AFL's drive has been halted for a while. At the head of the old union, once led by 'King Joe' Ryan, is Big Bill Bradley, an ex-boat captain.

Capt. Bradley has pledged himself privately and publicly to clean out the mobs — and out those in and around the waterfront Brooklyn Army Base who joined openly with Harry Bridges.

Capt. Bradley has copies of Bridges' union's certified checks issued to Anastasio's lieutenants. Capt. Bradley has pictures of Anastasio's aides talking to pro-Communist union meetings on the West Coast and sitting there on

Dedicates VA Hospital

CINCINNATI (AP) — Vice Adm. Joel T. Boone, chief medical director of the Veterans Administration, yesterday dedicated an eight-million-dollar VA hospital here.

The institution, the 170th to be built by the VA, will be used as a surgical and general hospital.

Nothing Is Permanent

By CHARLES MERCER
For HAL BOYLE

GLEN RIDGE, N. J. (AP) — The spot where I am writing this may be some day in the middle of a six-lane highway. Or maybe it will be beside the highway. Or maybe the highway will be a block away. And possibly the highway never will come this way at all.

The spot is my desk in our house. After I got out of the Army in 1946 we lived in furnished rooms while we hunted and hunted for a home. The places we could afford we did not like, and the places we liked we could not afford.

Then, one Sunday afternoon in 1947, we saw The House. The land curved around it and nine big oaks stretched their arms about it and people had dwelt happily in it many years.

"This is it," I said after we'd been through it and learned the price.

"Yes, this is it," my wife said.

"But we can't afford it."

So we bought it and moved into it all our possessions—a portable typewriter, a portable radio and wedding gifts that never had been unpacked.

Since that time we've been told by various people that it's a nice house but: 1. We can't afford it. 2. It's much bigger than we need. 3. I'll get a coronary working on all that lawn. 4. "You trying to go high hat or something to move in here?"

We always reply that we like it and view it as a permanent home. For in 1947 we were hunting permanence and certainty after much uncertainty, and along with the rest of the world we still desire permanence and certainty today. So we furnished the house and lived in it and the sheriff has stayed away from our door. We've known happiness and sorrow here. It's become a place much lived in and attained in our minds the permanence we desired.

About a year ago we first heard the state was mounting an attack on us. Goths pushing bulldozers would invade from the west, we were told, driving a super-highway through us toward New York. Citizens of arms-bearing age were mustered in meetings of protest where it was impossible to sift wild rumors from military intelligence.

The road would go here; it would go there; it would go anywhere. Some people in the threatened zone of attack wanted to sell, but nobody would buy. One fellow stopped painting his house. A few optimistic strategists figured our positions were secured by a large cemetery a half mile forward of us which also protected a wide azimuth of our left flank. But a pers-

Letters were read from Mrs. Lilburn Coffee of Michigan and Mrs. Margaret Hoopes of Cleveland, also former members. Ohio nature pictures were shown by Mrs. Ernest Miller.

Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Crawford Brantingham, Mrs. Bren Griffith and Mrs. Robert Moore. Mrs. Emil Stanley will receive the group July 14.

The Damascus Hustlers 4-H Club met at the home of David and Tommy Kertes recently. Roll call was "Birds I Know."

Reese Admits Killing Three

Husky Farmer Breaks Down Under Grilling

COSHOCTON, Ohio (AP)—"I killed them. That's all; three is all!" Cletus Reese, 36, made that statement yesterday, according to Sheriff Gilbert Kempf, as he told a rambling story explaining the three bodies taken since June 5 from his farm at nearby Nellie. In some places, the sheriff said, the story ran counter to known facts.

He said the admission came after the husky farmer mental patient broke down under questioning and cried out:

"There are only three. You won't find any more."

Reese has been charged with murder in the death of Clyde Patton, 28, Fresno school teacher, whose body was found on the farm June 5.

A grand jury will consider that charge.

Kempf said all three victims, the school teacher, a farmhand and another former mental patient, were referred to by Reese as "soldiers."

Each victim apparently had his skull crushed, Kempf added.

Authorities at Cambridge State Hospital where Reese was released on a trial basis in December 1951 said Reese had stated that soldiers were killing people on his farm land.

One of the victims was identified yesterday as Paul Tish, 39, a former mental patient at Cambridge. Tish's body was found last Thursday in a shallow grave on the Reese farm.

The other victim was Lester Melick, 38, Danville farm hand, whose body was uncovered last Friday. He had been missing since last November.

Kempf said Reese told him he didn't know Tish and that Tish "was a soldier and he came to my house . . . we had a difference over theology."

Chamber Names McKee Sesquy Representative

Floyd McKee was appointed as the Chamber of Commerce representative to work with the Salem Historical Society in connection with the sesquicentennial observance when the Chamber met of existence in 1956.

Chamber President Hobart Butcher, who appointed Mr. McKee, reported nine new members enrolled in the C. of C.

Speaker at the meeting was Ted Nemi of Youngstown radio station WKBN.

been cleared for "top secret" information.

"If by chance there was one rotten apple in the barrel—which there has been in other agencies—it might in turn be disastrous to our security," he said.

All of this had little direct bearing on the charges of Secretary of the Army Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams that McCarthy and Roy M. Cohn, subcommittee chief counsel, brought improper pressure in trying to get favored Army treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine, a former subcommittee consultant.

The McCarthy side countercharged that Stevens and Adams tried to use Schine as a "hostage" to sidetrack a McCarthy investigation of alleged Communists in the Army. The subcommittee voted on pay lines May 26 to dismiss Carr as a principal to the case.

Carr's testimony, generally given in short and laconic replies, supported the sworn accounts already given by McCarthy and Cohn in flat disagreement with those of Stevens and Adams. Carr, a 37-year-old former FBI man, said he regards all the McCarthy camp's charges as true.

He testified that Adams once told him there was "a high-administration decision" to buck a move by McCarthy to call Army loyalty board members for questioning. He also quoted Adams as saying there were "probably 200" Communists or fellow travelers in the Army who could be called for questioning by the McCarthy subcommittee.

McCarthy and Cohn have said Schine, while on weekend and evening passes from Ft. Dix, N. J., worked diligently on subcommittee business. Carr said he did not recall ever having seen a memorandum submitted by Schine.

McCarthy said at one point he had "an unwritten rule, a rather strong one, that when any member of the committee (staff) interrogates anyone who doesn't want his name known . . . I have requested that no memorandum be placed in the file, knowing that too many people have access to those files."

Carr, robust and perspiring, worked his way steadily through three pitchers of ice water and hundreds of cross-examination questions before yesterday's climax came with Symington directing inquiries at him.

After Carr had testified that one member of the subcommittee staff of investigators has "top secret" clearance and others have "secret" clearance, Symington commented:

"It would be unfortunate if we had a subversive on our staff and he hadn't had clearance and then he examined an agency and in that agency he got information which made it possible for him to betray the country."

"It would be unfortunate and most unusual," Carr replied, adding that "there are no subversives on our staff."

When Symington asked if staff members had "clearance from the FBI.

McCarthy broke in to say

Symington was making "the implication . . . that he knew of some subversive on the staff."

"He does not," McCarthy said.

"If he knows of any subversive, then he should take the stand and tell about him. Otherwise, he owes a duty to apologize to the young men who have been working day and night to get rid of Communists

. . . without the help, may I say, of men like Sen. Symington."

With the bells ringing to call sensors to a vote in the Senate, Symington said he wanted to emphasized that he had "no information" about staff members, that he was "simply asking for information."

He then asked Carr if it wouldn't be a "relatively simple matter" for any security risk who might be on the staff to "betray his country" from information gained in the files.

Carr got no opportunity to reply as McCarthy broke in again, asserting that Symington was "by innuendo trying to smear" the staff.

"I would like to ask him now, even though he is not under oath, whether he has any information at all of any kind to justify this attempted smear against these 14 young men," he said, his voice rising.

"If he has no information, then he should be honest enough to tell us. If he has information, he should take stand and take the oath as these young men have been taking it."

Symington, standing with microphone in hand as McCarthy shouted at him, sat down and replied:

"In all the years that I have been in this government, based on the testimony given before this committee under oath I think the files of what you call 'my staff, my director, my chief of staff,' have been the sloppiest and most dangerously handled files that I have ever heard of since I have been in the government."

Symington joined the government in 1945 as chairman of the Surplus

Property Board and later served as secretary of the Air Force before being elected to the Senate.

As Symington rose to answer the voting bell, McCarthy said:

"You can run away if you like,

Stu. You have been trying to smear the staff of this committee . . . You jump up and run away without answering the question . . . You shouldn't do that . . . That is just dishonest. That is the same thing the Communist party has been doing too long."

"Apparently," Symington replied,

"any time anybody says anything against anybody working for Sen.

McCarthy, he is smearing them and accusing them of being Communist."

"Answer the question," shouted

McCarthy.

"That is the best answer I can give you and that is the only answer you are going to get," Symington snapped, and began pushing his way through the crowd and out of the hearing room.

Lisbon School Board

Hires 3 New Teachers

LISBON — A resolution to place another six-mill school operating levy before the voters next fall was passed by the Lisbon Board of Education Monday night and three new teachers were hired.

The present six-mill levy, which has furnished funds the past five years, will expire soon, according to V. J. Ullman, school superintendent. He said the proposed levy will be certified to the county board of elections soon.

Miss Betty Mitchell of Adena, a graduate of Ithaca College in Ithaca, N.Y., was employed as band director and instrument and music teacher. Mrs. Betty Rudder of W. Washington St., was hired to teach seventh and eighth grades and Mrs. Norma Nulf of RD 5, Lisbon was hired as an extra third-grade teacher.

Resignations submitted by Samuel Means, local music teacher, and Mrs. Olive Brown, second grade teacher at Lincoln School, were accepted.

Miss Mitchell, who formerly traveled with an all-girl orchestra, rehearsed the high school band today for a concert to be held on the square Friday night at 6.

Makes Slight Concession

Russia's Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov made a slight concession yesterday. He said the neutral nations commission for supervision of an Indochina cease-fire might, under certain conditions, take decisions by a majority vote.

This represented a shift from his previous demands that all decisions must be unanimous, but Western delegates said his proposal was ambiguous and did not affect the basic issues. Molotov still insisted that the commission be made up of Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia, India and Pakistan.

The Western Powers planned to take a strong stand tomorrow against any Red demands for discussions between the governments of Laos and Cambodia and the Communist "resistance" regimes there, which the French say exist only on paper.

Junior Fair Board

Has Social Meeting

LISBON — A get-acquainted covered supper was held at the first meeting of the Columbiana County Junior Fair Board at St. George's Parish Hall Monday night.

Fourteen of the 4-H, Future Farmers of America and Grange representatives to the board, five senior fair board members and agriculture extension workers attended. Officers will be elected at the next meeting.

Accused Slasher Free

On $1,000 Bond

LISBON — Ronald Dunn, 23, of near East Liverpool, defendant in a cutting trial that ended in a jury deadlock last Thursday, was released from Mahoning County Jail Monday on $1,000 bond.

Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp reduced bond from $2,500. for the accused slasher of Gene Johnson, 20, of Wellsville.

Court personnel estimate a retrial will not be set before October.
